

Tuesday Activity: Read these amazing poems; then have a go writing your very own poem about a creature of your choice. Have fun using adjectives to describe your creature in creative ways.

Limericks

Ants

There once was a family of ants,
Who lived to make use of the plants.
They were fast and strong,
But didn't live long.
Just be glad that they're not in your pants.

Sand flea

There once was a grouchy sand flea,
Who lurked at the bottom of the sea,
But the people did rankle,
So he bit on their ankle,
And said, "That's the way it shall be!"

Poems by Kenning

Snail

House-hauler
Slime-trailer
Beady-eyed
Leaf-chewer

Shell-shifter
Shade-seeker
Soft-skinned
Tentacle-twitcher

Scorpion

He's a death-stalker
Mostly night-time crawler

He's a cricket crusher
A noisy food-sucker

He's a mouse-murderer
A demon tail-curler

This diabolic, hard-shelled loner
Is as quick as a flash,
A lightning-mover

Watch out!
The mini-tank is coming near,
Better run fast ...
Oh dear!
